The Property

This is a delightful character cottage. It is terraced and built of stone and cob beneath a slate roof. At the rear is an access path and a stone utility shed/laundry. The ground floor is one large open plan living, eating and kitchen area with windows front and rear and a lovely stone fireplace and wood burner. Upstairs there are two modest double bedrooms and a bathroom with an electric shower above the bath. It is presented in good decorative order having just been re-rendered on the outside and it would be a great starter home, bolt hole, holiday let or downsizer. Fowlers strongly recommend viewing.

Situation

Netherton Hill leads off the village square, and it is only about a one minute walk to the cottage. Drewsteignton is a charming Dartmoor village with a superb restaurant, a village pub (closed at the moment), a parish church and great access to countryside paths. A school bus service runs to Chagford Primary school and Okehampton College. About a mile away is the excellent riverside Fingle Bridge Inn by the River Teign. The A30 dual carriageway is about 4 miles away and Exeter is approximately 12 miles.
