Tixall Stafford

Tixall Mews Tixall
Stafford Staffordshire

Experience the charm of yesteryear in this stunning property, a former stable and coach house built in the early 19th century as part of the prestigious Georgian Hall estate. Constructed under the guidance of Thomas Clifford, this elegant crescent-shaped building is a testament to timeless design and architectural excellence. Originally serving the new Tixall Hall of the 1780s, the property is distinguished by its two-storey pavilions, a central coach house, and exquisite Georgian features. Designated as a Grade II listed building,

Tixall Mews boasts a magnificent three-bay arch, a turreted parapet, and a central Gothic-style porch. Crafted from local sandstone, the property features stone mullion windows, along with both pitched and hipped slate roofs. The embattled towers at either end originally housed grooms, coachmen, and servants, complete with basements for additional storage. Celebrated by Pevsner as a "magnificent composition," these structures were thoughtfully converted into residential units in the 1970s, preserving their historical integrity while offering contemporary comforts. Upon entering, you are welcomed by a formal entrance hall with a solid oak door, leading to a guest WC and a series of beautifully appointed rooms. The formal living room, featuring an imposing cast iron log stove with an oak mantle and tiled hearth, provides a cozy yet grand space for relaxation. The library/study and music/craft room offer versatile areas for work and leisure. The expansive kitchen/dining room is fitted with an exquisite range of units, perfect for both everyday living and entertaining. Upstairs, discover four generously sized double bedrooms. The principal bedroom includes a luxurious contemporary en-suite, while a separate family bathroom serves the remaining bedrooms. Tixall Mews is approached via a sweeping gravel driveway, leading to the private estate. The centerpiece of this approach is an impressive circular lawn with a charming water fountain. The properties are arranged in a horseshoe formation, enhancing the sense of community and exclusivity. The beautifully landscaped private rear garden offers breathtaking views of the surrounding countryside. Featuring cut stone paved seating areas, shaped lawns, and an array of well-stocked planting beds, this outdoor space is perfect for relaxation and entertainment. This is a rare opportunity to own a piece of Stafford history, meticulously preserved for today's discerning homeowner. Welcome to Tixall Mews, where historic elegance meets contemporary comfort.
